WILMINGTON UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF TECHNOLOGY
BASIC COURSE INFORMATION

COURSE TITLE: Web Design Integration Capstone

COURSE NUMBER: DSN 7010

I.   MAJOR INSTRUCTIONAL OBJECTIVES :

Objective A: Develop the skills and knowledge needed for Information Technology (IT) professionals
A-1   Identify technological systems, components, policies, and/or elements needed to meet business requirements and comply with regulatory/industry standards A-1.   Distinguish between ethical and unethical behavior of IT professionals

Objective B: Demonstrate Information Technology's (IT) contribution to achieving organizational and departmental goals and objectives B-1.   Identify and explain the alignment between IT policies, processes, and/or procedures with a business' strategic and tactical objectives B-2.   Compare web development models and methodologies B-3.   Apply web development models and methodologies to Information Technology
       (IT) projects
B-4.   Describe the relationships between systems

Objective C: Recognize the applicability and reliability of information obtained for research assignments (Information Literacy) C-1.   Apply the critical thinking process to analyze, synthesize and evaluate information
C-2.   Use applicable and reliable research information as support for group and/or individual assignments

Objective D: Use a formal, academic writing style and/or exhibit oral communication proficiency (communication - oral & written) D-1.   Correctly format supporting material and assignments using the guidelines presented in the