COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course will emphasize advanced vocabulary-building elements and verbal communication, with an emphasis on non-native speakers' student needs. Students will be required to expand their speaking and vocabulary skills learned in ESL 102 and apply these skills to selected presentation assignments. Students will improve decoding, reading, pronunciation and speech fluency skills. Students will also learn basic research and citation (APA, current edition) skills in preparing for their presentations using various multimedia technologies. Please note the minimum passing grade is a "B".
